Preliminary Survey Results Show Support for Late Start Days

Through the AISD Employee Coordinated Survey administered in the Spring of 2009, School Improvement Facilitators (SIFs), Assistant Principals and Principals were surveyed about their perceptions of Late Start Days. When asked if teachers at their school effectively used their professional development time on the Late Start days, over 89% of campus administrators agreed that teachers made effective use of Late Start Days to support professional development. Approximately 78% of administrators support the Late Start model as an ongoing, professional learning model for teachers.
